

Brief profile of Vaughan Renner, MBA

Vaughan is a member of the Institute of Directors and has had an executive career spanning twenty years that has included senior leadership and general management positions.

He currently represents Business New Zealand on the boards of The Standards Council of New Zealand and Weltec (Wellington Institute of Technology). He is also a board member of the Employers and Manufacturers Association (Central) Holmes Consulting Group Ltd (structural and civil engineers).

His previous board member appointments include PWB, the Wellington Regional Economic Development Agency (now known as Grow Wellington).

From 1998 - 2004 he was the CEO of South Pacific Tyres, New Zealand's largest tyre company, with 1,200 employees and sales approaching $200 million per annum. Previously he held general management roles in engineering, IT and sales and marketing.

Prior to becoming CEO he held a strategic development position with SPT Australia, based in Melbourne.

Vaughan's key strengths are seeking practical solutions to complex problems and defining and leading change.

He holds an MBA from Massey University, New Zealand, and a BE Hons - Chemical and BSc - Chemistry from the University of Canterbury, New Zealand.

