

Profile – Vaughan Renner

A member of the Institute of Directors, Vaughan has had an executive career of senior leadership and general management positions spanning twenty years.

He is a board member of:

- Weltec (Wellington Institute of Technology)
- Employers Chamber of Commerce Central
- The Standards Council of New Zealand (representing Business New Zealand)
- Energy Smart Limited; and
- New Zealand Army Support Management Board.

Vaughan is a member of the Institute of Directors and has had an executive career spanning twenty years that has included senior leadership and general management positions.

He is a board member of Weltec (Wellington Institute of Technology), the Employers Chamber of Commerce Central, Energy Smart Limited and the New Zealand Army Support Management Board. He also represents Business New Zealand on the board of The Standards Council of New Zealand.

His previous board member appointments include PWB, the Wellington Regional Economic Development Agency (now known as Grow Wellington), the Employers and Manufacturers Association (Central) and Holmes Consulting Group Ltd ( structural and civil engineers).

From 1998 - 2004 he was the CEO of South Pacific Tyres, New Zealand's largest tyre company, with 1,200 employees and sales approaching $200 million per annum. Previously he held general management roles in engineering, IT and sales and marketing.

Prior to becoming CEO he held a strategic development position with SPT Australia, based in Melbourne.

Vaughan's key strengths are seeking practical solutions to complex problems and defining and leading change.

He holds an MBA from Massey University, New Zealand, and a BE Hons - Chemical and BSc - Chemistry from the University of Canterbury, New Zealand.

